B- BUSINESS SEGMENT OF

Export - Import and Domestic supply of Fruits, Vegetables, Staples':

Fruits and vegetables, being perishable by nature, are very prone to damage. Around 40% of fruits and vegetables produced are wasted due to poor storage facilities, poor infrastructure, improper handling, poor transportation facilities, inadequate market facilities, a lack of refrigerated transport, and poor packaging. The major factors causing deterioration of fruits and vegetables are moisture content, relative humidity, product temperature, environment temperature, respiration rate, physical and mechanical damages, type of microorganism, and ethylene production. We are fully aware of the challenges posed and its potential impact for the stakeholders involved, hence our entire action in the value chain is to provide high quality fresh fruits and vegetables, grains, spices and have made a mark in this field. Our quality service helps us in meeting ever requirement of our valued customers. Since we deal with fresh agricultural produce, our customers around the world expect speedy deliveries and consistent quality from us and the fact that we have continued to expand our client list each year, and the constant increase in our export turnover shows that we have been able to give our clients what they want.
